Canning Season Tips

Canning season is at hand, with most community canneries opening this week. The canneries expect to be running with activity for the next few weeks. Correct methods make a difference in the results. Here are a few tips:

1. Fruits should be fresh, sound and neither under-ripe nor over-ripe.

2. Vegetables should be young and tender and should be canned as soon as possible after picking. Two hours from garden to can is a good rule to follow.

3. The product should be placed in clean jars, pans or baskets while being harvested and prepared for processing.

4. If vegetables are harvested in the cool of the evening, they should be spread out in a cool place overnight and canned early the following morning. Refrigeration is best.

5. The products should be washed thoroughly by using enough clean water to cover and changing the water several times. The products should be lifted from each water used for washing.

6. Beans and peas should be washed thoroughly before shelling. If the pods are thoroughly washed it is usually unnecessary to wash beans or peas after they are shelled.

7. Cutting of vegetables is preferred to breaking to avoid loss of vitamins.

8. Place prepared products in jars or on table tops which have been scrubbed with hot, soapy water.

9. The product should be prepared and placed in the cooker as soon as possible.

10. Preparation of products such as shucking corn and cutting of grains should always be done at the cannery.

11. When products are to be prepared at home discuss methods with the instructor.

12. All meats and poultry should be slaughtered and handled in sanitary manner.

13. In canning meat, chilling the carcass after slaughter is necessary; otherwise, decomposition will start in a few hours.

14. Only fresh fish should be canned as spoilage of fish begins quickly.

TRACTOR DRIVING CONTEST FRIDAY

On Friday afternoon, July 7 at 1:30 P. M., a Tractor Driving Contest will be held at the school in Appomattox. The public is cordially invited. This is an elimination contest to decide a winner of the County 4-H Tractor Driving Contest. The winner will compete in the State 4-H Tractor Driving Clinic at Blacksburg August 22.

Friday's contest will climax a 4-H Tractor School for Appomattox County 4-H'ers which began early in the spring. Seven Appomattox County 4-H boys completed the school and are eligible to compete in the contest. New tractors will be on hand for the boys to drive and a course will be set up on the school ground similar to the one used in the state and national events.

Friday's contest will include safety checks, starting, backing, belting, pulling and backing tractors, etc.

There will be a time limit on the course, and the boy who does the fastest and most efficient and safest job on the course will win the prize.

Members of the 4-H Honor Club will be on hand to pass out programs. Everyone is invited.

FHA CONFERENCE

Hunter P. Evans, County Supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration, at Rustburg, serving Appomattox and Campbell Counties, attended a conference in Richmond, June 26-27, to appraise past performances of the Farmers Home Administration program in Virginia and plan for more efficient operations.

State Director R. O. Delano, in his opening remarks said "We must train all employees to accomplish more with less effort. It is doubtful that we will ever have many more workers, and it is probable that we will be required to do more work with about the same personnel."

Discussion and studies pointed out that hundreds of the small family-type farm operators are feeling the pinch of lowering prices for their products while their operating costs remain relatively high. A primary objective of the coming fiscal year will be to help farm families who borrow through Farmers Home Administration to increase their farm income. This will be done by improving practices with present enterprises, developing additional enterprises, producing maximum amount of food for home consumption, and using to the fullest extent A. C. P. and S. S. S. benefits, says Mr. Evans.

The conference featured discussions of policies governing the making and servicing of the three types of loans that are made to family size farm operators who are not eligible for their credit needs from regular lending agencies, Mr. Evans said. The FHA makes short - time loans for farm operating purposes, long-time loans for the purchase and improvement of family - size farms and loans to construct or repair farm dwellings and other buildings.

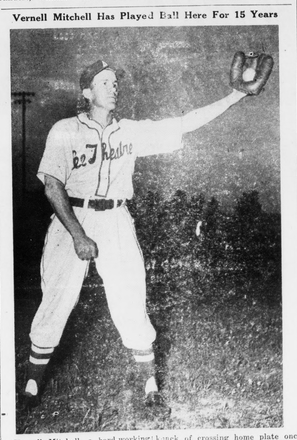
Vernell Mitchell Has Played Ball Here For 15 Years



Vernell Mitchell, a hard-working and consistent player on the Green Sox Lee Theater baseball club, has compiled a record of playing ball here for 15 years. Mitchell figures he passed the 15-year mark on June 24. That qualifies him as a veteran in any league.

A home-town player, Mitchell is a sure fielder in his right field position and consistently hits around the .300 mark. But it is a base-runner that he captures the fancy of the fans. He has speed and a knack of crossing home plate once he gets safely on base. Opposing catchers have learned to respect him when he is poised on first, and he has won many a ball game with a daring into home base.

Mitchell played for semi-pro clubs in Newport News during the war years, but most of his career has been in the Skyline League uniform of John Caldwell's Appomattox teams. Mitchell loves the game, likes to win, and like Old Man River is likely to go on forever.
